Tips for Using Your New Card

At Conexus, our members' financial well-being drives everything we do. As a valuable spending and credit history building tool, credit cards can play an important role in achieving financial wellness. We're here to help you make the most of this tool and to help you use it to achieve your financial goals.

Be aware of your spending and stay within your credit limit » Check your statement on a regular basis to help with budgeting and staying within your limit. It's also good to review your transactions—if you see something out of the ordinary, report it immediately.

Create and stick to a budget » Create a budget with all of your monthly expenses. This will help you map how much you have to spend, and how much debt you can afford to take on and repay.

Add your card to your mobile wallet and pay with the convenience of Apple Pay, Google Pay and Samsung Pay.

Pay off your balance every month »

Paying your balance in full earns the most points on your credit score. You also avoid paying interest and the reward points can be used to increase your savings.

Build and maintain a healthy credit score »

A large part of your credit score depends on how timely you are with bill payments, so always make payments on time. Make sure by setting up automatic payments, or set up electronic reminders.

Conexus Rewards

You'll earn one point for every US dollar spent. You can use those points to save, travel and spend.

Save » Points can be redeemed as a cash back credit on your Conexus Mastercard account to help you manage your money and save.

Travel » Turn your points into experiences and memories by redeeming them for travel rewards including flights, accommodations, cruises, events, spas and dining.

Spend » With thousands of merchandise items and gift cards to a variety of stores and restaurants, there's something for everyone.

Visit conexusrewards.ca to check your points balance, to redeem, or to see the most current list of rewards available.
